Dear diary,

I did something really naughty today and I am very sorry right now.

I woke up late this morning since I slept very late yesterday so I ^{was} late for school. My classteacher, Miss Wong, was quite angry but she still let me go back to the seat and quickly hand in the homework. When I was finding my homework, I suddenly remembered that I ^{had} left the homework at home as I was really hurry going to school. I would lose a lot of conduct mark for that! Therefore I told a lie to the teacher that my younger brother made the homework broken and I was trying to buy a new one. Miss Wong didn't realise I was lying so she let me go but my best friend, Katy, knew I was ^{lying} because she went to my home yesterday and knew I have no any brothers or sisters.

During the break, Katy went to the teacher's room and told Miss Wong the whole thing. Miss Wong was very angry and she seriously punished me. I realised that Katy told the truth to Miss ^{Wong} and I started to play nasty tricks on her. I put a crackroach on her desk since she was really scared of them. She realised that only me knew her secret so she was going to tell Miss Wong this but I stopped her. I begged her not to tell to the teacher but she ignored me. I was really really afraid that Miss Wong would punished me again so I started to fight with her and try to stop her finding Miss Wong. But I was even more seriously punished. I was really sorry and felt regret. I thought Katy would never be friends with me any longer but she said, 'Everyone makes mistakes, but only wise men learn from their mistakes.' What a good friend she was!

I promise I will not be such naughty again and make Katy worry me any more.

Yours,

Candy
