Dear cousin Jackie,

I want to tell you about what happened during my best friend's birthday. It was a bit horrible and ended of quite nasty. Now I shall tell you what happened, It all started like this.....

It was my best friend's birthday last Sunday, so I invited him to join me for dinner in a restaurant called "lucky choice seafood restaurant". He thought it sounded good so we decided to eat there. When we got there my best friend ordered a big fish. So the chef got to work. Little did we know that the chef was unhygienic and started picking his nose! disgusting! And then some of his mucus started to fall on the fish, but that wasn't all, everywhere around the restaurant was crawling with creepy crawlies, like bugs, cockroaches and rats! When the fish arrived it looked tasty.

My friend took the first bite, at first there was nothing, then her face turned green, then blue, then purple! I stared at my friend in shock, what had happened! then I noticed a tail sticking out of the fishes mouth, I looked frightened, what is it? then I knew, it was a big fat rat! And my friend took a bite out of it! I called the hospital and an ambulance rushed to the door of the restaurant. A doctor went in and said to me "and ambulance is here, can you escort her to the ambulance?" I did as I was told. The ambulance drove off at top speed with my friend in it. I went home, very sorry for choosing that restaurant.

The next day the incident was all over the news. The chef got fired, they closed the restaurant, but there was no news about my friend. This was all my fault. I felt sad, would my best friend forgive me? so I just stayed at home, wondering what would happen to my best friend. Cousin Jackie, what should I do? It would be a great pleasure if you give me some advice. Please reply as soon as possible.

love cousin Chris
